HR RISING STAR AWARD

PURPOSE OF THE AWARD
The Rising Star Award recognizes an individual who has demonstrated early leadership qualities in human resources through personal performance and commitment to professional, volunteer, and educational opportunities. Rising stars are the future of the profession.

ELIGIBILITY CRITERIA

- Contribution to the Workplace - Makes a positive contribution to the workplace by demonstrating initiative in applying human resources knowledge and skills, promoting the application of HR practices and the value of HR

- Education and Professional Development - Committed to pursuing HR related education through a post-secondary institution, CHRP designation, or other professional development

- Community Involvement - Actively involved in the community through participation in professional associations, extra-curricular activities with an HR focus, or volunteering with community organizations. Must have demonstrated team effort